COMMENTARY

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I am glad to present the Kenya Airways PLC financial results for the financial year ended 31

Following the worst year on record for the aviation industry, the industry is seeing strong signs of recovery particularly in US domestic travel and more moderate recovery in international travel. Kenya Airways took advantage of the lockdown period to restructure and transform our operations and products. We have seen some good recovery in our domestic, regional and selected international routes. We continued with our efforts to improve our flexibility and service offering to customers.

During 2021, KQ still felt the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic due to some restrictions and limitations due to the advent of the Omicron variant, particularly affecting our Dubai and Guangzhou routes but little impact in the European, US and regional routes. This resumption in operations increased the airline's capacity by 11.5% over 2020 but remained 65% below the 2019 pre-pandemic

Even with all these challenges, Kenya Airways has weathered the storm to post significantly improved results. An incredible amount of work by the Board and management has gone into these results. Management sought alternative revenue streams to replace lost revenue because of various travel restrictions. These revenue sources included air charter services, which increased by 300% and ancillary revenues which increased by 65%. In addition, management have reduced costs by 3.5% and reducing lease rentals for the aircraft by Kshs 10 billion.

Capacity Deployment

Capacity deployed, measured in Available Seat Kilometres (ASKs) stood at 5,900 million compared to 5,292 million reported in 2020, an increase of 11.5% and achieved a cabin factor of 60.8% compared to 65.3% in the previous year 2020. This was due to an increase in the number of routes operated compared to the previous year.

The Group's total revenue during the year increased by 33% to Kshs. 70,221 million which is a laudable achievement and would have been higher had we not been restricted in the fourth quarter due to the Omicron variant as mentioned above and the ban on flights into the UAE during this time.

The Group uplifted a total of 2.2 million passengers during the year, a 25% increase compared to the prior year, but 57% lower than 2019. The cargo business uplifted 63,726 tonnes, recording an improvement of 29% over 2020.

Costs:

The Group saw a decrease of 3.6% in total operating costs for the year with direct operating costs increasing by 32.9% mainly driven by increased operations coupled with increase in global fuel prices throughout the year. Fixed costs declined by 26.7% driven by a strong emphasis on reducing both fleet ownership costs and overheads.

Based on the above revenue and cost dynamics, the Group recorded a significantly improved performance, reporting an operating loss of KSh 6.8 billion compared to 2020 operating loss of KSh 27.1 billion (an Operating Loss Margin of 9.6% compared to 51% in the same period last year). This is a testament to the tremendous work that the management is doing to improve revenue, contain costs and conserve cash.

Overall, Kenya Airways Management and staff made tremendous efforts in 2021 to improve our service levels, improve revenues and focus on cost reductions despite the challenges brought about by reduced salaries and the reduction in routes flown.

Notwithstanding the current global crisis brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic and now the uncertainties and insecurities brought on by the war in Ukraine, Kenya Airways will continue its efforts to fly a more efficient network, improve service quality and delivery and further reduce costs. We will continue to seek our new partnerships and improve existing partnerships to offer a better product to our customers and improve our revenue opportunities.

There are several strategy initiatives that the company is pursuing that should help to future proof the various reform efforts that the company has instituted. Some of these include the commercialization of unmanned aircraft technology and eVtol, expansion of cargo and our MRO facility.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to our customers, the Government of Kenya, shareholders, financiers, lessors, the management, staff, suppliers, and other stakeholders for their continued support.
